Missing Home

At The White House

In early December, Kate Bryant and John Lindfors were guests at the White House for a fancy holiday party. The rooms were beautifully decorated, the food was extraordinary and the people were warm and welcoming. But Kate was missing her Cottagewood Garden Club holiday party that night, so John dutifully carried in a copy of Deephaven Life to make sure they didn't feel too out of touch.

Going somewhere? Don't forget to bring us along!
